R0-0

SASIMI2024 Short Presentation Slide Example

Yung-Chih Chen, National Taiwan University of Science and Technology

Put the summary of the problem, your solution, key idea, contribution, etc.

For good visibility, large font and large figures are recommended.
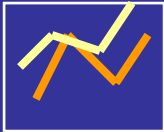

R0-0

Put the detail of your work, but

DON'T put too much information in a slide.

Busy slides are not good for audiences' understanding.

Busy slide is not good

Graphical chart is good idea, but too small charts are difficult to read. Long sentence is also not good.

You can discuss the detail in front of your poster. Please choose the most important results for short presentation.

Simple slide is better

XX% improvement

For more detail, please visit our poster!

Busy slide

Simple slide

The presentation is only 2-minutes.

You cannot talk all of your work in the short presentation.

Note

- ✓ The short presentation in the beginning of the session is 2-minutes for each presenter.
- ✓ The number of slides is limited up to 3 pages.
- ✓ Please submit your presentation file via the web submission system by Feb. 23 (Fri.).
- ✓ Only PDF format is acceptable. Other formats (MS PowerPoint etc.) are REJECTED to receive.
- ✓ All of slides are merged into one single PDF file.
- ✓ If you do not send your presentation file by above deadline, you have to give your presentation without showing any slide.
- ✓ If you have any question, please feel free to contact to the presentation chair.

Presentation chair: ycchen.ee@mail.ntust.edu.tw
Yung-Chih Chen, National Taiwan University of Science and Technology